Study Abroad Course Approvals for Academic Program Requirements

Credits earned on an NTC study abroad program are automatically listed as general elective credit on your Tulane transcript for courses taken within business, architecture, liberal arts, public health, and science & engineering fields. Courses appear on the student's transcript with the program course title, grade, number of credits, the Tulane departmental prefix and an OSA course number (i.e. 1290, 5190, 5380, or 5390). Study abroad courses do not automatically count for NTC major/minor/core requirements.

Instructions:

- Use this form to request specific course equivalencies for courses for which you are seeking major/minor or other academic program requirements. (Translation: Use this form only if you need a study abroad course “to count” towards a major/minor requirement.)
- This form should be used courses taken on approved study abroad programs through the NTC Office of Study Abroad (i.e. not on Freeman programs or for study abroad programs taken during a leave of absence).
- When submitting the form to departmental approvers, include course syllabi as attachments. If you do not have a course syllabus, contact your program provider or check their website. .
- Requests for courses to fulfill a NTC core attributes should be directed here.

STEP 1: Check to see if courses have been pre-approved for a Tulane course equivalency. (To be completed by the student.)

Some study abroad courses have been pre-approved for course articulations. Students should consult this website \(https://cge.tulane.edu/course-equivalencies\) to see if their courses have been pre-approved. (Courses are organized by discipline.) If your course is on the pre- approved list and it fulfills the academic requirement that you need (e.g. 3000 level cultural anthropology course), enter relevant information below:

Study Abroad Course Title (e.g. Media and Politics in Peru)
Degree Audit Placement (see Column G)

STOP! If all of the courses for which you are seeking equivalencies are on the spreadsheet, you are done! You may submit now to crystal@tulane.edu without additional departmental approvals.

STEP 2: Request equivalencies for courses that have not been pre-approved.

If your study abroad course(s) are not on the spreadsheet, you must request course equivalencies with the relevant Tulane department. Students should work directly with departments, following their protocols, in requesting course equivalencies (consult department website, Director of Undergraduate Studies, or Department Chair as appropriate).

Faculty Instructions

- Courses from abroad can be approved and processed by the OSA for up to one area of a student’s degree audit. Students should speak with their major/minor advisors of secondary programs to inquire about the potential for a course to count in more than one area of a study.
- Courses can be granted a 3-year approval if there is no variability in how the course should appear on a degree audit for different students. These courses will be listed as pre-approved courses on the NTC Office of Study Abroad’s website. If you choose to authorize a 3 year approval, your department will not have to approve the same courses taken by multiple students in the same program. The NTC Office of Study Abroad highly encourages 3-year approvals. The courses that are approved by the department for 3 years will be reevaluated 3 years from the date below.
- Faculty may also approve courses as a “one-off.” This is a better option if the study abroad course has variability in how it is placed in a degree audit. In these cases, the department approver can enter the course into the degree audit (<https://registrar.tulane.edu/degree-audit/degree-works-faculty-staff>). Faculty should still email a copy of this form to crystal@tulane.edu so we have verification that the course was approved.
